

Township

Description

Located in an old train yard, Township is part of a repurposed entertainment district in downtown Tallahassee. The developer's vision was to build a new structure that felt original to the industrial area. We envisioned a "building inside a building" for this very specific concept. Our goal was to create an interior that felt like a re-discovered factory long lost after the industrial revolution.

Jury statement

The idea of endowing the decor with the look of a historical factory was impressively executed here.
